

TEMPLE ADATH YESHURUN

FROM the RABBI

Beth D. Davidson

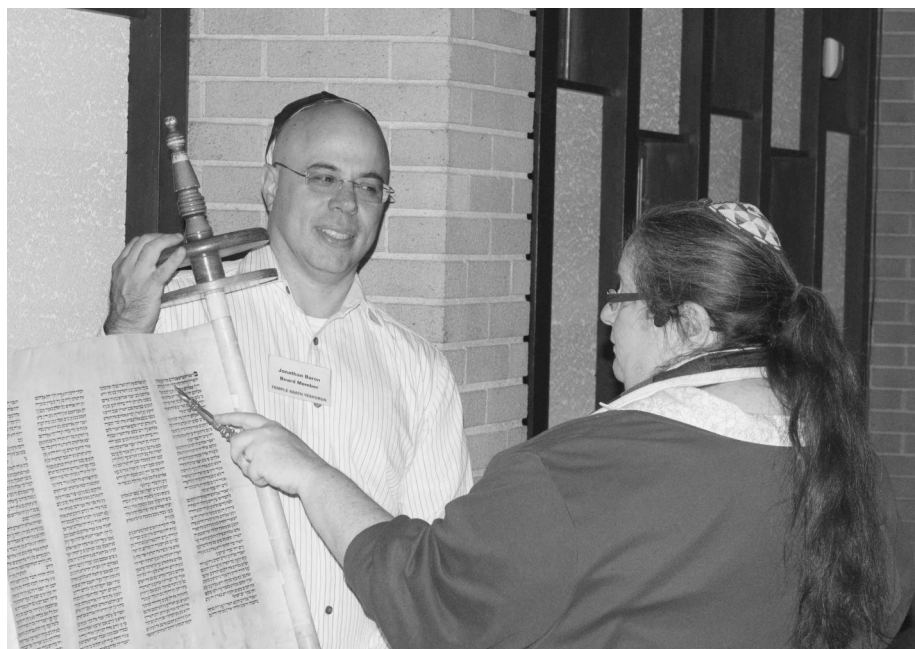

5776 —Simchat Torah —2015

I believe that the African proverb is correct: it does take a village to raise a child. I also believe it takes the entire TAY congregation to celebrate the High Holy Days.

Thank you to everyone who read, sang in our choir, ushered, folded, copied, schlepped, greeted, tidied, chanted Torah or Haftarah, printed name labels, sounded the shofar, stuffed prayer books, drove the van, handed out/collected/and returned food bags. Each of you enriched our congregation's worship experience, and I truly appreciate everything you did.

I am thankful, too, for those of you who attended services, prayed, sang, listened to the sermons and speeches, and responded to the readers. Participation in communal worship should be a spiritually satisfying experience, and I hope that everyone enjoyed uplifting worship.

Without Karen Rothstein, our Holy Days couldn't happen. Karen's attention to detail, devotion to her community,

President's Message

Alan D. Kaplan

[Editor's note: President Alan D. Kaplan prepared and delivered this message to the congregation on Rosh Hashanah morning, 5776 (9-14-2015). It is reprinted here.]

Good Morning and L'Shana Tova. Each year the president is responsible for providing our membership with a report on the "well-being" of our congregation and making an appeal to keep our Temple family and its facilities healthy for the years to come.

This year I had the opportunity to enjoy the beauty of G-d's creation in Northern Maine while writing my report. Away from the city lights, the heavens are filled as G-d promised—with stars too numerous to count, thousands of lakes, beautiful flowers and an abundance of wildlife. I saw livestock grazing the fields; loons, ducks and fish populating the waterways, and a variety of wildlife including many deer and an occasional bear.

I was reminded of a story that speaks with equal clarity to hiking a trail in the woods or walking down the aisle in the sanctuary. You need to know your prayers and remember the rabbinic teaching that guides us each day and particularly during these Days of Awe: "Be mindful that while we must pray as though everything depends on G-d, we must act as though everything depends upon us."

A Jewish guy is hiking alone in the Great North Woods. Suddenly he comes upon a large bear. The bear spots the guy and raises up to his full 10-foot height. The guy has the major yickes and starts praying: "Ribono shel olam, I got some real tsuris here, I need help, what can I do, what can I do?" The guy glances up at the bear and what do you know? The bear is bowing and shucking, too. The guy thinks: "A Jewish bear! Thank you! Thank you G-d!"

He walks over, hand out, to introduce himself to the bear. Just then, the bear is finishing his prayer: "Chamotzi lechem min ha'aretz. Omein!"

Last year I discussed with you a plan for re-vitalization and re-creation of our worship, study and community gathering. I told you the story of a simple tailor who partnered with G-d to create a successful business—"Lord and Taylor." Our own partnership "Lord and TAY" has enjoyed similar success and the realization of many of our goals.

1. While we have lost some members through illness or moving out of the community, new families and individuals have joined the Temple, keeping our numbers stable.
2. Income has improved with the elimination of automatic 100% abatements and realistic payment plans for those truly needing assistance. No person is turned away because of need. 100% of our congregants now participate in some way toward the support of our Temple. I want to acknowledge all the hours spent by our treasurer Mike Litvin and assistant treasurer Reva Miller and the members of the abatement committee who keep the books and have the unenviable task of making collection calls.
3. Volunteerism by many Temple members in our school, helping with office and grounds tasks have diminished the need for contracted services. We have a new principal in our Religious School, Steve Dolman—who brings to TAY years of personal teaching experience and management of school affairs. Under his guidance improvements in our curriculum should enhance our educational program and attract more students.
4. New income streams have resulted from rental of space to outside organizations and the incorporation of the Jewish Federation preschool into our building. Bringing the preschool to TAY would not have been possible without the uncounted hours of dedication by our negotiating committee: Joel Gordon, Bob Katchen, Lee Hill and Cate Tanzer; and through the supervision of the project by Bob Katchen, David Rosenzweig and Judson Belmont.
5. Savings have been realized through redesign of our personnel and hiring policies.
6. The very successful first year L'Chayim food fair organized by Cate Tanzer will again take place this year on October 18th; the third annual Bagels and Biscuits 5K Road Race is scheduled for and nearly limitless patience makes everything come together, and I want to publicly thank her for EVERYTHING she does (not only at the High Holy Days, but throughout the year.) Thank you, Karen, for keeping me on task and on track, and for enabling the TAY family to pray and celebrate together.

Yes, I know there were sound system challenges, and yes, we are still in process of creating ticket policies that meet the needs of the congregation and all our constituent families. If you have suggestions, please feel free to let me, President Alan Kaplan, or Ritual Chair

Jonathan Baron know. Working together we can insure that every voice is heard and that everyone is able to participate.

More copies of Arthur Green's book Judaism's 10 Best Ideas—on which I focused my Rosh HaShanah morning sermon—have already arrived in the main office, so please stop by and pick up a copy. We are happy to share a free copy with each family. If you would like more than one copy, you are welcome to purchase them to give to friends and family for $8 each (discounted price). And watch future bulletins and email updates for an opportunity to discuss this little gem of a book.

April 2016. Chanukah and Purim Parties, Concert by the Boston Music Festival (who have asked to return to TAY next spring), a monthly movie night, a sold out Deli-night, continuing events for seniors and expansion of the Cantorial concert have brought more members of both our community and the outside community into the building than in many previous years.

7. A reduction in the previous $32,000 yearly dues to the URJ to $10,000 and complete relief of a $140,000 debt for old unpaid dues was negotiated.

8. The High Holy Days' appeal last

This New Year brings new beginnings, and the renovations in our sanctuary, social hall and patio will continue over the next months. If all goes according to plan, by our next New Year, 5777, our worship and community spaces will be revitalized and refreshed.

Change however, also brings some challenges, and so I hope everyone will be patient as the process unfolds. Once the new carpet goes in, I trust everyone will make an effort not to carry food or drink into the sanctuary; we can show our appreciation for our new and comfortable chairs by not eating or drinking while seated on them. We are going to try and not put "The Great Wall of Manchester" back up, and this will be a bit of an experiment. With a little luck, the new wall system will be in place by the Spring.

If you have already made a gift to the Capital Campaign, thank you for your commitment to our future; if you have not made a pledge or donation to the Capital Campaign, I hope you will consider joining Cliff and myself, the TAY Board, and many of your fellow congregants in supporting a reinvigorated TAY facility.

I am cautiously optimistic that we will be able to address both aesthetic and infrastructure issues, and that next year, when we dedicate our new space, we will have a building that is comfortable, uplifting, warm and welcoming.

~Rabbi Beth D. Davidson

year was more successful than in the previous year and the number of Chai members—both family and individual—increased. I am hoping even more of you who are financially able will sign on as Chi members. The increased giving truly helps to make up for those less fortunate.

All of these elements and in particular the individual generosity of many members has resulted in the opportunity to avoid an increase in dues for this year.

Our plans to revitalize the physical plant are moving ahead based on a generous response to the Capital campaign. One hundred per cent of the Board of Directors has participated; we have already received pledges or funds from 25% of the congregation.

While this is a three-year campaign with a minimum goal of $300,000, we are now able to move ahead with many of the projects planned for the revitalization and free up additional dollars for infrastructure maintenance and repair.

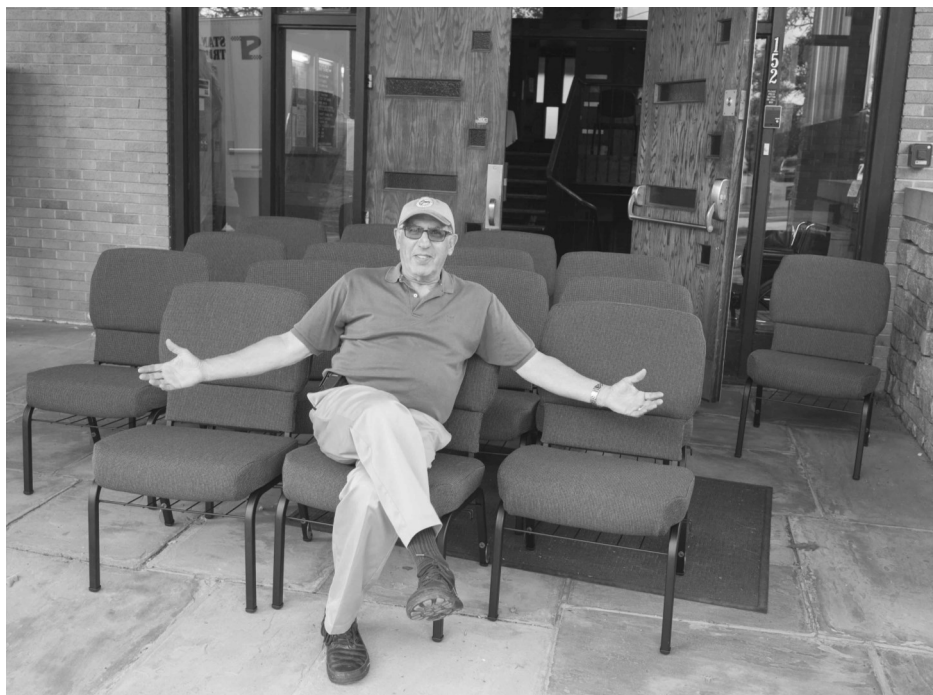

All of you are able to enjoy a comfortable seat this year without having to squeeze between the fixed bays of pew seats. In a few weeks the handicapped accessible ramp to the bimah, the bimah extension to accommodate the choir and our Tefilah band, new area-specific LED lighting for the sanctuary and social hall, and new carpet in the sanctuary, foyer and library will be installed.

Later this year the wall that separates the social hall from the sanctuary will be replaced with a folding wall that will allow use of the entire hall for either social or secular functions. The new folding wall will take minutes to deploy or retract, instead of two days.

I recently met with our architect who is designing the new lobby and patio areas. The outside patio work is slated to begin next spring and will be funded by a special grant left by Robert Stahl.

We all have the opportunity to make a difference. While we can pray to G-d for guidance, in the end our actions and success depend on us.

Consider the case of Joseph, a deeply religious man, who went to temple one day during the Holy Days and forgot his prayer shawl, so he borrowed one from the rack at the temple. At the end of the service, he realized that he really liked this tallit, so much so that he actually decided to stuff it down the front President Alan Kaplan was part of the team that unloaded and moved the new chairs into the sanctuary just in time for High Holy Days. See pages 10 & 11 for more pictures of the Gifts That Keep on Giving.

of his trousers and take it home.

After the service when he was walking through the reception line, the Rabbi stopped him and whispered, "Joseph, I am sorry, but I saw you stuff a tallit down your pants. Why would you do this?"

Joseph, totally embarrassed and ashamed, explained the situation, where upon the Rabbi suggested he remove it from his trousers and give it back. By now, the Tallit had managed to slide halfway down his leg. While Joseph was bent over pulling it out of his pant leg, he accidentally let out a loud melodious flatulence.

The Rabbi, exasperated, said, "Joseph ... you took the Shofar, too?"

Rather than just accepting what others have provided, we all have the opportunity to "Give." Please take out your High Holy Day donation envelope (if you left yours at home there are extras in the seat pockets in your row and a pen to write your name).

Please turn down a tab to support our Temple family by giving as generously as you can afford. BUT BEFORE making the final crease in that fold, consider if you can defer or even do without one non-essential expensive material acquisition, one dinner out or major vacation trip and choose a higher value tab to fold down. Our spiritual home and the evolution of a more active Jewish social life for you and your children and the generations to come (L'dor va dor) depends on the choice you make.

Please remember to write your name on the pledge card if you did not bring the pre-labeled envelope from home, and place the envelope in the boxes the ushers have just outside the sanctuary door. [If you missed services this year and are reading this at home for the first time, it is still not too late to make a High Holy Day pledge or donation and/or a contribution to the Capital Campaign.

And know that the board welcomes any member to attend the Board meetings so your productive suggestions can be shared and heard.

Plan to support and attend the many spiritual and social events that will be occurring at the newly revitalized "Lord & TAY." L'Shana Tova.

Thank you.

SISTERHOOD NEWS

Linda Rockenmacher

Sisterhood organized the decorations of fruits, vegetables and flowers on our bima in a bountiful display for the High Holy Days. All the edibles were then taken to New Horizons. I want to thank the Barry, Mandy, and Elliott Frank and Janice Litvin—as well as our delivery drivers—for helping with this beautiful arrangement and donation to New Horizons.

This year we are asking all congregants to assist in hosting and setting up our onegs on Friday evenings. I am encouraged by the cooperation we have had so far. Thank you to the following members who hosted and set up during the months of September and October: Nancy Frankel, Elda Cordero-Goodman, Barbara Scotch, Karen & Steve Rothstein, Benita & Elise Lebow, JoAnn Meyers, Debbie Cohen, and Anita Price.

Thank you also to Karen Silverstein for sponsoring an oneg in memory of her husband, Mark. You have all helped to make our congregation warmer and more welcoming.

Sisterhood needed to quickly reorganize this fall with the departure of our President/Treasurer, Gail Ellis. We now have a slate of dynamic women in place who will continue to keep our organization vibrant. Linda Rockenmacher and Ruthie Gordon will serve as co-presidents, Nancy Frankel as Secretary, and Fran Short as Treasurer.

Karen Rothstein will again chair the Craft Fair, Dot Warshaw the Second night Seder, and Fran Short, Emilie Kaplan and Ruthie Gordon together will run the Judaica Shop. Continuing their positions are Cate Tanzer as Program Chair, Frankie Shapiro as organizer for Breakfast with the Rabbi, and Mary Singer as our Sisterhood representative to Interfaith Women of NH. We are looking forward to a good year.

I hope you have noticed the new glass display cases we purchased for the Judaica Shop in the downstairs hallway. Be sure to check out the new items that are available for you to purchase. Beautiful cards, jewelry and items by local and Israeli artists—plus other Judaica—are all on display.

Breakfast with the Rabbi began on at 10 AM on October 3 at the Sukkot adult education program entitled Thoreau's Sukkah.

We have been planning our Paid-up Dinner to be held on Monday, October 26, with a Greek theme this year. Our vegetarian meal will be prepared by Janine Katsigianis, who is an outstanding Greek cook. Our Woman of the Year Award will be presented, plus a program by Linda Rockenmacher on the History of Jews in Greece. E-vites will be sent to your e-mail address, so be sure to respond promptly. It promises to be a wonderful event we sincerely hope you will enjoy.

Principal's Message

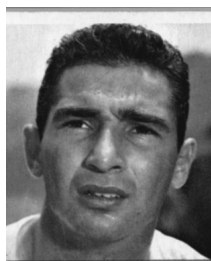

Stephen Dolman

As I write this Principal's Message for October, our TAY community has just finished celebrating our High Holy Days. We are in the midst of our celebration of the fall festival of Sukkot.

On Sunday October 4, we celebrated the holiday of Simchat Torah and the consecration of our first graders.

Many of you were there to help us honor our Torah and our first graders.

The beginning of the School year is usually spent assessing to see what knowledge has been retained and what needs to be reviewed. For example, in 2nd grade the students are reviewing their Alaph Bets and vowel sounds with their teacher. The students in 7th grade are working to learn the reading of the prayer "Elu Devarim" and how it has an effect on their everyday life.

Teachers are going over class rules and expectations for both behavior and school work. This is a time for both teachers and students to get to know each other and start to develop their relationship.

In Judaica, the classes have been learning about the Holy Days. In the 5th and 6th grade they are going to be learning about the concept of community—what it means, and the responsibility of belonging to one. The students will also make a time capsule expressing their feelings and their expectations for what they think they will learn.

During our ten days of introspection between Rosh HaShanah and Yom Kippur, we reflected on our past mistakes, asked for forgiveness and pledged to try to do better—not perfect, just better. We as a community should try to focus on improving our involvement in the Tzedakah program, completing both class and homework assignments. We must put a special emphasis on improving our attendance at both Hebrew school and at services.

Our goal this year for all of us—administrators, parents, students, and teachers—is to build a school community that learns together and works for the common good. This improvement and sense of achievement will not only be rewarded with prizes but by a feeling of inner accomplishment. Remember what you put in, is what you get out.

Bless the Pets: For Children of All Ages & Their Beloved Pets

Do your pets need blessing? Celebrate the diversity of God's creation, and join us at 9 AM on Saturday, Oct. 17, for our annual Blessing of the Pets. Please, live pets only: no stuffed pets or toys. Photo opportunities abound at this event.

Jewish Federation of NH Preschool: A New Beginning at TAY

by Debbie DePasse

Note: This is the second in a two-part series highlighting the JFNH Preschool, originally published in the New Hampshire Jewish Reporter of September 2015 (Vol. 36, No. 1), and reprinted here with permission.

As the JFNH Preschool prepares to open its doors in its new location at Temple Adath Yeshurun, this is a great time to reflect on the history of the JFNH Preschool and its significance to the NH Jewish community. JFNH has long recognized the value of early Jewish education in helping to establish a strong Jewish identity in our children. Research has found that early exposure to Jewish culture and traditions helps lead to greater involvement in Judaism later in life. Keeping in line with our core values, and equally recognizing the JFNH Mission Statement of promoting Jewish continuity in New Hampshire, it was a natural choice for JFNH to continue its investment in the preschool after the sale of the building.

The NH Jewish community has had a long history of supporting Jewish early education. In the early 1950s, the Jewish Community Center (the predecessor to JFNH) formed its first Nursery School and Kindergarten under the leadership of longtime Manchester resident Doris Chirug Schrader. Doris ran the school until her retirement in 1972, and the school continued to flourish until closing its doors in 1983.

Recognizing the role of a Jewish preschool and its importance to the NH Jewish community, current JFNH Preschool Director Alane Sabel and a group of young families reestablished the school in 1987. Alane was the lead teacher and director, and with one assistant teacher and 15 three- and four-year-olds in a mixed-age classroom, the group met for three days per week.

Over the past 28 years, Alane has provided strong leadership as the JFNH Preschool Director, and through the years, she has taught every age group from two year olds through kindergarten, while developing the curriculum that is still being taught. Today, the school is open five days a week and offers extended hours running from 7:30 AM for early drop-off until 5 PM for extended care.

All of the teachers at the JFNH Preschool have extensive teaching experience, and each has a history of longevity in teaching at the school, with the average length of time teaching at the JFNH Preschool being greater than nine years. The staff are also active members of the Jewish community, and they are not only teaching preschool, but also Sunday school and Hebrew school at local synagogues.

Families that have made up the JFNH Preschool community have come from Nashua, Amherst, Bedford, Merrimack, Londonderry, Derry, Hooksett, Concord, Bow, and other areas throughout the state, and most of the children who have come to the school have also gone on to continue their Jewish education in their respective communities where there are active congregations.

Rabbis from local congregations come to participate in JFNH Preschool activities as well. The Shabbat celebration is one area in particular where the rabbis enjoy spending time with the children. And hopefully, if the shlichah (Israeli emissary) program is able to resume, the shlichah will take an active role in the preschool once again.

The new home of the JFNH Preschool is within Temple Adath Yeshurun. . . across the street from its former location. At the time of this writing, the construction to renovate the classrooms is well underway, and the staff and students are looking forward to their new home in bright, airy classrooms. The grounds for the new playground have been leveled, and a playground expert was brought in for design assistance. It is exciting that the TAY building has additional classroom space so that the preschool can grow as enrollment also grows, while still allowing a student/teacher ratio of 6 to 1 to be maintained.

Rabbi Beth Davidson, Rabbi of Temple Adath Yeshurun, welcomes the school to TAY, stating: "Temple Adath Yeshurun is delighted to be the new home of the JFNH Preschool. We are thrilled to be able to help this valuable institution remain in Manchester, and look forward to working with the staff, the statewide community, and the Federation, to continue providing a quality, Jewish preschool education for interested Jewish families."

The JFNH Preschool has a bright future in its new location, one that will continue to be there in the years to come. Supporting the Jewish preschool in New Hampshire helps to ensure that the next generation of young Jewish families will continue to grow within New Hampshire, and this helps contribute to a positive future for all Jews in New Hampshire.

[Editor's Note: The JFNH Preschool opened in its new venue at Temple Adath Yeshurun on September 2. For more information or details about the preschool schedule, programming and after-school care options, see this website: preschool@jewishnh.org. Or call (603) 782-5174.]

Frank Success at 6 Points Sci-Tech Academy

by Elliott Frank, TAY 6th Grader

6 Points Sci-Tech Academy is one of Union for Reform Judaism's camps. It's set in a classic New England landscape, at the Governor's Academy in Byfield, Massachusetts, just 45 minutes north of Boston.

6 Points has five core values. They are kesher (קשר) connection, sakranut (סקרנות) curiosity, taglit (תגלית) discovery, kavod (כבוד) respect, and savlanut (סבלנות) patience. They incorporate these five values to help make camp a better place.

6 Points offers six different workshops. There is Earth and Sky, Forensics, Robotics, Video Game Design, Web and Graphic Design, and Digital Film Production. I picked Digital Film Production and learned a lot about how to make an awesome movie.

They also have you choose four chugs, electives—two for each week. They switch every year. This year they had rocketry, flight, food science, the chemistry of making things, Rube Goldberg, 3D Printing, Makerspace, Magic, and more.

They split you up by age and gender for your halls. A hall is a floor of a dorm. They have eight halls, two girls' and four boys'. They use three dorms. They have The Rosie Dorm,

The Ramon Dorm, and The Baer Dorm—named after Ralph Baer, the father of the video game, who recently passed away as a member of Temple Adath Yeshurun in Manchester.

Elliott Frank (left) poses with Adam Klein who was on staff at 6 Points Camp, and also works as TAY's Mandy advisor.

I was in a two-person room with a bunk bed with a kid from New Jersey. My session had 114 kids from 20+ states and three countries.

You start off the day by waking up at 7:10 and witnessing the Boker Big Bang. It's a science experiment that often ends up with a bang. My favorite one was when we launched 1,200 ping pong balls with liquid nitrogen.

Then we go to breakfast, and let me just say, the food is spectacular. Then we have our workshop. Next we have a chug, and then we have livnot, building time.

This could be designing, learning, or building sci-tech mezuzot with test tubes and rulers.

Next comes lunch, resting time, and sports. And yes, 6 Points even has sports! Adam Klein, MANTY's advisor, was one of the sports directors. Every day they have choices such as tennis, Quidditch, Gaga, and Capture the Flag. Chug, workshop, and shower hour follow sports. It is a requirement that you shower every day, as well as make your bed.

In the evening, we have dinner and then a song session. Then we have a night-time event. We could watch a movie, play games, or go to the pool (which we got to do 3 times.) Next, we sing some songs like Hashkiveinu and go to bed.

On Shabbat, we do a couple of different things. We have a Shabbat dinner of brisket, salad, and matzo ball soup, and a fun service afterwards which is almost all songs. On Saturday, we sleep late and have a Shabbat "Shelective" after services. Some examples are Israeli navigation, Challah-making, stump the Rabbi, and Predict the Future of the prayerbook. After lunch, the whole afternoon is based on a theme. Ours was Superhero Shabbat where we visited the world of Ant-Man and played giant games and did obstacle courses.

On one of the days in the final week, we have "trip day" where each workshop visits a different place and then we all meet up at the Boston Museum of Science. Digital Film Production went to New England Studios and got a tour of the facility. We got to go into the rafters of the Sound Stage. The Earth and Sky group provided an interesting twist for the whole camp: we got clipped by the edge of a real tornado as we were leaving the Museum.

On the final night, we have TECH talks, where each workshop presents what it did. I would definitely recommend 6 Points Sci-Tech Academy. There has been some talk about adding

Kristallnacht Speaker at TAY in November

Come Friday, November 13 to celebrate Shabbat and hear TAY member Stephan Lewy address the congregation. Stephan Lewy is a Holocaust survivor who will speak about his first-hand experiences on Kristallnacht (the Night of Broken Glass) on November 8, 1938. Service will begin at 7 PM.

Mr. Lewy has plans to relocate to upstate New York in the future, in order to be closer to family. His daughter lives in Buffalo, New York. Don't miss this opportunity to hear him speak in person as he shares his experiences.

either Makerspace, Food Science, or Aerospace as a new workshop. So come to 6 Points Sci-Tech and give it a try!

Thank you to the Jewish Federation of NH for providing me a first-time camper grant.

Chapel Cemetery Gift of Map

The original map of Adath Yeshurun's portion of the Cemetery has recently been framed as a gift from the Meyers Family and hung in the Hebrew Cemetery Chapel.

The cemetery was originally established on August 3, 1902. On August 5, 1952, it was re-surveyed by George Eckman. The original map had been in possession of the Meyers Family since the 1950's. Max Meyers, and subsequently Milton Meyers (JoAnn's husband) had chaired the Cemetery Committee for over 30 years.

At right, JoAnn Meyers poses for a photograph in the newly renovated Chapel in the Manchester Hebrew Cemetery on South Beech Street. Renovations were made possible by donations from community members from both Temple Israel and Temple Adath Yeshurun—who jointly manage the cemetery.

Thank you, JoAnn Meyers.

Garden Gladdens Visitors to TAY

We used to have a tree in this spot, but when Paul Gladstone made the decision to fill the empty spot with flowering shrubbery, all of our hearts have been gladdened. Exiting the temple, one has a straight line of sight to the garden as one looks across to the Currier Museum (see the Currier in the upper left corner of the picture below). At the right is a close-up of the Memorial plaque in the Garden—you can see it in front of the hydrangeas in the picture below.

It's the Rose Gladstone Garden.

BROTHERHOOD NEWS

Sol Rockenmacher

"THE BEAT WILL GO ON!"

Our first meeting of the 2015-2016 year was held on Tuesday, 9-8-15. Our schedule shows that, once again, your TAY Brotherhood is planning another eventful year. As is our age-old tradition, we work for the benefit of the temple and for our communities—observant & secular Jewish, as well as non-Jewish.

We are helping to fund outside security lighting as well as planning to make our usual donations to TAY General Fund and our School Fund and Slavin Fund allotments.

Once again, construction of the Sukkah was headed up by Herlicka Construction, on Sunday, 9-27-15.

David Rosenzweig will be in charge of our yearly Chanukah Candle Drive. December 13 will be the time for our Chanukah Party.

Once again we anticipate that over 100 members of the Manchester Jewish Community will participate in the Christmas Mitzvah Program.

A special Breakfast is planned for January 10, 2016. Popular local writer John Clayton will be our guest speaker.

We are hoping to be able to squeeze in a lively Candidates Forum between the Iowa caucuses and our New Hampshire Primary.

Penchansky and Company Deli Night is scheduled for January 30, 2016. The following weekend we prepare breakfast for attendees at MANTY's Winter Wonderland.

The much-anticipated Joel Gordon Purim Party extravaganza will be on March 30, 2016; the Seniors Dinner will be on May 12. Our now third-annual Memorial Day Service is down for May 30.

On June 7, 2016, our always well-attended Annual Meeting-BBQ will be held. The Brotherhood-Sisterhood Service, organized by Steve Short and Alan Kaplan, scheduled for June 17, will bring another busy year to a close.

The bottom line is that we look forward to another year of good deeds, and a lot of camaraderie, as we work toward increasing membership (and participation) from throughout the local Jewish community.

TAY men, check your mail for our yearly membership sign-up letter and check the TAY Calendar, web-site and e-mail update for meeting dates, times, and programs.

Feel free to contact Sol

if you have any questions or ideas about Brotherhood and our activities.

Revisiting the Yom Kippur Service 5776 (Sept. 23, 2015)

Once more Atonement Day has come.
All pretense gone,
naked heart revealed to the hiding self,
we stand on holy ground, between the day that was
and the one that must be
We tremble.

At what did we aim?
How did we stumble?
What did we take? What did we give?
To what were we blind?

* * *

Say then:
Why are our paths strewn with promises like fallen leaves?

Say then:
When shall our lust be for wisdom?

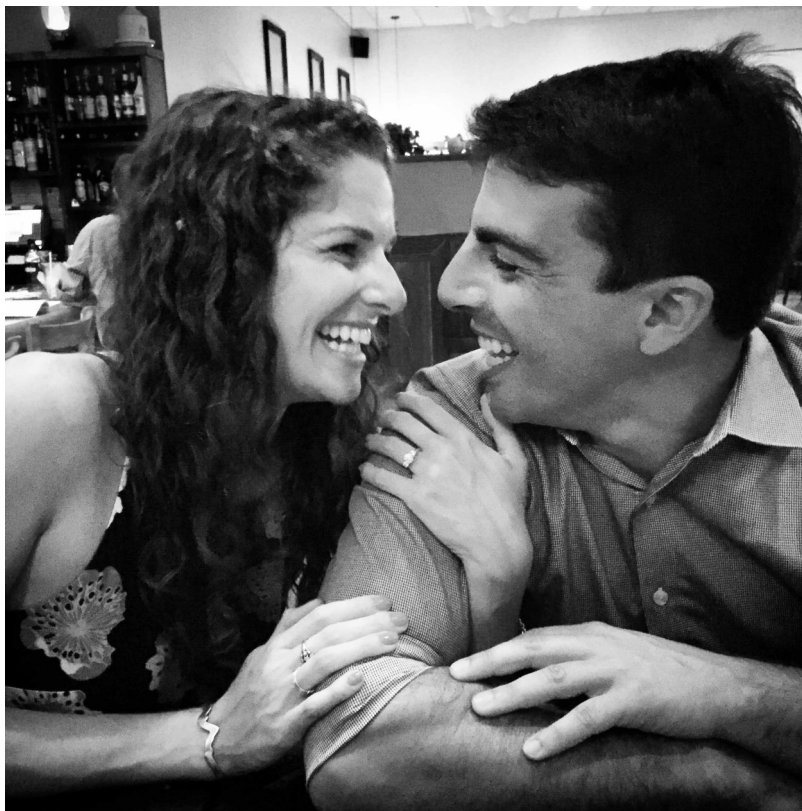

Say now:
Love and truth shall meet;
justice and peace shall embrace.

*O hope of Israel:
In our weakness, give us strength.
In our blindness, be our guide.
When we falter, hold our hand.*

Make consistent our impulse for good;
Let us know the joy of walking in Your ways.

Gates of Repentance, p. 249-250.

Mazel Tov! For October, 2015

Jocelyn Gordon of Bedford, NH & Andrew Gordon of Sharon, MA, plan to wed.

Gordon-Gordon Nuptials Planned for Winter 2016

Congratulations to Ruthie and Joel Gordon of Bedford on the engagement of their daughter Jocelyn to Andrew Gordon, son of Karen & Harvey Gordon of Temple Sinai in Sharon, MA. The engagement was announced mid-August. A winter 2016 wedding is planned. Jocelyn and Andrew now live in Brookline, MA. Jocelyn is the Marketing Communications Manager at Jewish Family & Children's Service in Waltham. Andrew is the founder of DealerScience, a company that provides innovative solutions to car dealers. Ruthie says, "It's going to be a Gordon/Gordon union and we are thrilled."

Grodman Invites TAY to Aufruf & Luncheon

Susan Grodman is pleased to invite the TAY congregation to an aufruf during Shabbat service on Saturday, Oct. 24, following Shabbat service at 10 AM. Her son Adam Grodman has plans to marry Amy Elitzer in November, 2015. [See details of invitation on page 18.]

Berry Boys Born & Named

Mazel Tov to Anna and Jake Berry of Manchester, proud parents of twin boys: Jonah Harold Berry was born at 8:44 PM on Sunday, August 30—weighing 4 lbs. 8 oz.; Evan Bartlett Berry was born at 8:45 that same night—weighing 4 lbs. 2 oz. Rabbi Beth D. Davidson presided over the naming ceremony for both boys on Sunday, September 20.

Rabbi Fuchs Revisits TAY: Nov. Scholar in Residence

Rabbi Steve Fuchs will be our scholar in residence on Nov. 21 & 22, 2015.

Rabbi Steve Fuchs

Rabbi Beth's mentor and friend returns as Scholar in Residence on Nov. 21 & 22.

Recently returned from leading High Holy Day services in Germany, Rabbi Fuchs will share some thoughts about that experience on Friday night, in a sermon entitled "A Reform Rabbi in Germany."

On Saturday morning, in an extended Breakfast with the Rabbi and Torah Study, Rabbi Fuchs will lead the session and share from his recently published book, Finding Ourselves in Biblical Narratives. Copies of Rabbi Fuch's book will be available.

Cemetery notice

At the recommendation of the cemetery committee, the Temple Board is considering raising the price of plots to cover the rising costs of perpetual care.

Current prices are, for temple members $950 with proposed increase to $1200; for nonmembers $1500 proposed increase to $2000.

If you have any concerns, please contact Sue Niederman at 644-1508.

Rabbi Fuchs and Rabbi Davidson will also continue their 28-year long debate on the Patriarch Jacob: "Good Guy" or "Heel."

Now retired, over the course of his career Rabbi Fuchs served congregations in Columbia, MD; Nashville, TN; and West Hartford, CT. He also served the World Union of Progressive Judaism as President. He and his wife Vickie are the proud grandparents of five. Rabbi Fuchs helped Rabbi Davidson begin her career in the rabbinate after her ordination.

Pulpit Exchange for October

Jewish Clergy of NH (JCNH) is once again sponsoring the annual "pulpit exchange," held this year over two consecutive weekends. On October 30 and November 6, rabbis around the state will be playing musical pulpits. This yearly event enables rabbis and congregations to experience different styles and different communities, and helps build a statewide sense of Jewish community.

On Oct. 30, Rabbi Peter Levy will be at Temple Adath Yeshurun. He is the rabbi in Derry, at Temple Etz Chayyim. Join us to welcome Shabbat and celebrate with Rabbi Levy.

Adult Ed News : Interfaith Jewish-Christian Book Discussion

Join us on for an interfaith joint Adult Ed course with Brookside Congregational Church in which Rabbi Beth Davidson and Pastor Dawn Berry will lead a discussion for interested members of our congregations: Temple Adath Yeshurun and Brookside Congregational Church (United Church of Christ-UCC).

We will meet on two Mondays, the first two being Monday, October 19,

Social Action News: Religious Response to Hunger

Thank you to Judith Jolton, MANTY, and Nancy Frankel for all their hard work on the Religious Response to Hunger, and to all of you who supported this food drive. We are awaiting a final count from New Horizons, but it is clear that our collection will help feed our hungry neighbors.

The problem of the hungry and homeless in Manchester is too large for a single collection to eradicate. Thus Food collection is ongoing throughout the year, inside the front door at TAY.

The large box has been replaced with several baskets, but the goal is the same: continuing to help those in need. The next time you come to TAY, please consider bringing a can of beans or tuna, box of pasta, or jar of peanut butter.

Leave your offerings in the baskets. We will deliver the food when the baskets are full.

Thank you to Ruthie Gordon for helping neaten our lobby.

at Temple Adath Yeshurun; and Monday, Nov. 2 at Brookside Congregational Church, 2013 Elm Street, Manchester. Each night we will meet from 7:00-8:30 PM. The books are available for loan in the TAY Office.

Short Stories of Jesus: Parables of a Controversial Rabbi by Dr. Amy-Jill Levine will be the starting point for our discussion. Read the book and join us as we see how Levine explores Jesus' most popular parables, revealing their hidden depths, exposing their misinterpretations, and showing how they can still challenge and provoke us two thousand years later.

These sessions will be followed by discussion of several chapters from Jews and Christians, A Troubled Family, by Walter Harrison and Randy Falk, and will culminate with a discussion of the UCC's recent decision to divest its holdings in Israel.

MANTY News for October: Heads Up for

by Adam Klein, MANTY advisor

Sunday October 11, MANTY went apple picking. We'll look for pictures in our November Bulletin.

On the weekend of October 24 and 25, MANTY will be attending Levi Leap hosted by BATY in Framingham, MA.

For your winter planning, mark February 5-7, 2016, on your home calendar. That's when the out-of-town hordes descend for Winter Wonderland, a skiing, singing, and praying extravaganza hosted by our temple youth in Manchester, with much support from Brotherhood and Sisterhood.

(If you've got space, see if you can help place an out-of-town guest for a couple of nights.) More appeals will follow.

Bless the Pets: For Children of All Ages & Their Beloved Pets

Do your pets need blessing? Celebrate the diversity of God's creation, and join us at 9 AM on Saturday, Oct. 17, for our annual Blessing of the Pets.

Please, live pets only: no stuffed pets or toys. Great photo opportunities abound at this event.

August 2015

Fienberg-Maloney Wedding Recap

Just after sundown, on August 15, 2015, at Elawa Farm in Lake Forest Illinois, Ori Joseph Fienberg of Amherst, NH, married Emily Florence Maloney of Lake Forest, Illinois. Rabbi Beth Davidson masterfully officiated. Guests from Paris, France, Los Angeles, CA and many places in between, drank the radiant couple's homemade mead and danced in the hay barn. Lorne and Nona Fienberg of Amherst, NH, and Cynthia and Patrick Maloney of Illinois are the happy parents.

At right, the happy couple is lifted in chairs by brothers and young and fit relatives.

Please Join Us for an Aufruf

Dear Congregation,

Our oldest son, Adam, will be marrying his long-time girlfriend, Amy Elitzer, on November 7th. The wedding will be in Connecticut, but my family and I are pleased to invite all Temple Adath Yeshurun congregants to help us bless the bride and groom at their aufruf at 10 AM on Saturday, October 24th. A kiddush lunch for all in attendance will follow the service at TAY. Many of you have known Adam since he was a little boy, and I hope you will join us to celebrate this simcha!

Regards,

Susan Grodman
